What happens at camp?

Forestry Camp is a residential (overnight) camp with a structured, academic focus. Campers enjoy outdoor field experiences on the Appomattox-Buckingham State Forest. The program centers on classes such as forest management, wildlife and environmental protection, supplemented by special presentations from natural resource professionals.

What is meant by "academic focus"?

The focus of the camp is on learning, and all campers should be prepared to participate fully. Campers receive study materials and instruction from experts in their field. There are daily quizzes and a final exam. The camp provides excellent preparation for those interested in pursuing natural resource careers.

Are there also "fun" things to do?

Yes! There are exploratory classes of the camper's choice, sports, a lumberjack competition and some free time and swimming each day. Meeting new friends with similar interests is a highlight for many campers. Most campers find the learning activities fun as well!

What is the cost?

The cost to the camper is only $85 for the entire week, thanks to generous sponsors and donors whose donations offset the cost of camp. The fee is not due until a camper is notified of selection.

What is the deadline for nominations?

Nominations open in early January and close April 10. The nomination form can be downloaded from www.dof.virginia.gov (see Education section, under Kids' Stuff). Completed forms may be emailed to ellen.powell@dof.virginia.gov or mailed to:
